Helping Your Child Learn Positive Friendship Skills

Friendships are very important when it comes to emotional health. Learning how to form successful peer relationships is a critical skill for your child, and one that they will be using and refining all their lives. Almost every parent worry about some aspect of his or her child's social life. While parents can't make friends for their kids, they can help them practice key social skills.

Share with your child that adults use social skills in their workplaces and community too. Do talk about experiences that you or your child may have had or observed when social skills were necessary. One activity that you and your child can do is to brainstorm and come up with a list of social skills that both of you can work on throughout the year. Below is a list of suggested social skills to work on at home with your child.

List of Suggested Social Skills:

- Taking turns
- Celebrating success
- Helping others
- Sharing ideas / Sharing materials
- Praising
- Asking for help
- Resolving Conflicts
- Accepting differences
- Participating
- Paraphrasing

8. Safety & Security Procedures

In our T1W1 Notification, under item 8.8, you were informed of the procedures that we have put in place to ensure the safety and security of your children. In this segment, we would like to highlight our observation of students who stay back after school for activities such as CCAs or afternoon remedial/supplementary classes. We have noticed students leaving the school compound after curriculum hours i.e. 2pm, to either purchase food or play at neighbouring public places e.g. East Point Mall, before returning to school for their after-school activities.

We do not allow students to leave the school compound after school hours if they have additional activities. We would like to urge parents/guardians to remind your child/ward to purchase food from the school canteen for lunch. Alternatively, parents/guardians could prepare lunch boxes for them. We seek your strong support in partnering us to ensure the safety and well-being of your child/ward.

Thank you for your support.

With warm regards,

Cheng Huey Teng (Mrs)
Principal
